STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., March 18.—Fifty-eight applications were received for the position left vacant when the Stanford Board of Athletic Control refused to re-appoint Coach Melbourne Evans, it was announced here.

A United States Army MAN

THERE is a Canal at Panama, linking two great oceans and carrying the commerce of the world.

For a hundred years and more men dreamed of that Canal. De Lesseps had the dream and failed, and the bones of men and wreck of machines remained to mark his failure.

It seemed a task almost impossible; yet that task was done.

It was done by
United States Army men.

In Cuba and Porto Rico yellow fever once claimed victims by thousands.

Yellow fever is no longer a menace in those islands. A great physician and his aids helped the people of those islands to conquer it forever.

And they, too, were
United States Army men.

In the Philippines a new civilization is arising; and its foundations are laid upon the courage and devotion of United States Army men.

You think of the Army as an instrument of war; and well you may; for the record of its men in France and Flanders will live as long as history is written.

But the Army has tasks of peace no less heroic—tasks that mean a safer, and a better world.

It is for those tasks that the Army asks three years of the lives of America's best young men.

To those men the Army promises sturdy health—an asset for their business success in all the years to come.

It offers them opportunity for training in a useful trade. It gives them good food, good clothes and good care. It trains them to responsibility—it develops character and mind.

It promises them travel, and the knowledge of other lands, that will make them citizens of the world.

The United States Army seeks no inferior applicants. It wants men of whom it can be proud, during their enlistment, and in all the years to come.

Men who will look back twenty, thirty, forty years from now and say:

"Those years were the most valuable of all my years of training.

"They gave me health, and skill, and the capacity for managing men. They gave me a chance to share in giant tasks.

"I am proud of the record of those years, and of what they have meant in my success.

"Proud that I, too, for a little while, was a United States Army man."

Where the U. S. Army serves

American troops are serving in Panama, Hawaii, the Philippines, Alaska, China, Germany, Siberia and here in the U. S. A. The recruiting Sergeant will gladly give you all the details.

Like every one else in the Army from General to Buck Private, you're under orders and if your outfit moves and you're needed elsewhere, your duty is to go.

The Nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Stations are:

UNITED STATES ARMY

THE 14 ARMS OF THE SERVICE

The Recruiting Sergeant can give you the information that will help you decide which branch fits you best. In all of them you will get the fine training as a soldier that the United States offers all its men—in many branches you can get highly specialized training.

INFANTRY—The men who have made the name of "doughboy" feared and respected throughout the world welcome you to the comradeship. Fine fellows—good fun and good training in any school at the post you go to.

CAVALRY—When the horses are champing at the bit and the "yellow legs" mount up and the troop rides forth, there is a thrill that no old cavalryman can ever forget. A horse of your own—a good outdoor life and training for future success.

FIELD ARTILLERY—"Action Front" comes the command—then watch the boys with the red hat cord snap into it. A happy outfit—with the dash of mounted service added to interesting work that calls for head and hand. Motors if you wish.

CORPS OF ENGINEERS—Army engineering is known the world over for its excellence and an enlistment in the engineers can be the start of a young man's training in the various branches of engineering and in the mechanical and building trades.

COAST ARTILLERY—Living on the sea coasts, guarding big cities with big guns, getting time for study and a wide and good technical training, the C. A. C. man is preparing for a useful life and good pay and is having a good time while he's learning. The C. A. C. also means the mobile big gun regiments throughout the country.

AIR SERVICE (including BALLOON CORPS)—The man who gets the early edge in experience with aeroplanes and balloons has a chance to cash in big on his army training. For flying is only in its infancy and it's going to be a profitable business for men with the right experience.

ORDNANCE DEPT.—The ordnance is appealing to the studious young American. To wide opportunities for study, it adds a business as well as a technical training.

SIGNAL CORPS—Whether it's laying a wire from a reel-cart at a gallop or installing a wireless station that will flash its message half around the world, the Signal Corps is there, and a man who learns radio telegraph and telephone work in the Signal Corps is always valuable.

MEDICAL DEPT.—Good experience, good pay, and training in all branches of hospital work. Excellent opportunity for future success. The Veterinary Corps teaches the care of horses as well as meat and milk inspection.

TANK CORPS—The man who knows gas motors and tractors or who wants to know them is invited to join the Tanks. Radio, machine gun and ordnance work are all parts of the Tank Corps work.

QUARTERMASTER CORPS—The Corps that feeds and clothes the Army offers a valuable training for future business. Interesting work for the man who likes horses in the Remount Service.

CONSTRUCTION DIVISION—Practical work in the many trades is part of the every day life of the Construction Division. Many opportunities to learn the trades of highly paid specialists.

CHEMICAL WARFARE SERVICE—For a man with a little knowledge of chemistry or for any ambitious young man who would like to get that knowledge, there is interesting work and rapid advancement in the C. W. S.

MOTOR TRANSPORT CORPS—A thorough practical training in motors and their accessories, and in driving as well, is given in the well-equipped schools of the Motor Transport Corps.

Navy Athletes Will Tryout for Olympic

BERKELEY, Cal., March 18.—Noting that only soldiers competed in the inter-allied games at Paris last July and that amateur athletes who were in the navy might make unexpected showings, Coach Walter Christie of University of California, today outlined possibilities of California men gaining places in the team to represent the United States at the Olympic games next summer.

"At the University of California we have a few prospects and perhaps some sure winners, although it is well to remember that all champions have their day and how to others eventually," said Christie, who is being urged as coach for the American team by Jack Merchant of Berkeley in the broad jump has arrived at 24 feet and shows good possibilities in other lines. The following men are all possible candidates:

Guy Caiden, Oakland, 100 yards, 10 seconds flat; 200 yards, 22½; C. Grunsky, Stockton, 120 high hurdles, 15.25.
W. B. Spratt, San Diego: mile, 4.25; 880 yards, 2 minutes.
D. Graham: pole vault, 12 feet 2 inches.
H. P. Muller, Oakland: high jump, 6 feet 3 inches.
"These men and others at the university may surprise some present champions."

A FRIEND RECOMMENDED THEM.
A person often does more good than he realizes when he tells a suffering friend how to get well. J. N. Tohill, clerk Little Hotel, Evansville, Ind., writes: "For weeks I suffered constantly with pains in the muscles of my thigh. I was treated by the doctor for rheumatism but found no relief. Upon recommendation of a friend, I tried Foley Kidney Pills and began to get relief almost immediately. Good for backache, rheumatic pains, stiff joints.—A. R. McIntyre Drug Co.—Advertisement."

Clint Larson to Wear Ogden's Club Colors

Clinton Larson, former B. Y. U. athlete and national champion in the high jump in 1919, and holder of the national college record of 6 feet 4 inches, has consented to wear the colors of the Ogden Athletic club at the Olympic games, should he qualify for this event.

Larson holds the world's record for the high jump, having made a leap of 6 feet, 7 7/8 inches at the interallied games in Paris last June.

Woman Divorced from Her Illegal Husband

Married to Joseph Bates, November 1, 1918, thinking that her husband, Arthur Douglas, was dead, Mattie Bates was granted a decree of divorce yesterday in Judge A. W. Agnew's court.

The plaintiff married Douglas in 1912 but since 1913 the couple had not lived together.

Seventh Cavalry Polo Team Wins Victories

EL PASO, Tex., March 18.—Bringing back five victories and one defeat the Seventh cavalry polo team recently returned to Fort Bliss from California.

During the western swing, the Seventh's crack poloists reported they vanquished Hugh Drury's team of Del Monte, the Santa Barbara regulars, the Coronado team, the San Mateo team at Del Monte, and the Santa Barbara Blue of Santa Barbara. The Santa Barbara regulars, however, turned the tables on the Seventh cavalry team, defeating it by a score of 11-2 to 7-2. According to President Hale of the Santa Barbara polo club, this was the fastest and hardest contested game ever played on the Santa Barbara club's field. All the games were with civilians.

The Seventh's team is composed of Lieutenant R. E. Craig, number 1; Lieutenant H. R. Gay, number 2; Captain J. W. Cunningham, number 3; Lieutenant D. S. Wood, number 4; and Captain J. C. Short, substitute. Lieutenant H. E. Featherstone is district polo officer at El Paso.

Plans are being made by polo enthusiasts here for a handicap tournament that will be open to all members of military organizations in the El Paso district. The Seventh cavalry won the Fort Bliss tournament held here during the Christmas holidays of 1919.

Mt. Ogden to be Made Official Name of Peak

Word from the forest service indicates that a suggestion to the national geodetic board at Washington would firmly affirm Mt. Ogden as the official name of the peak east of the city. The geodetic board meets weekly at the capitol and it is expected that an official adoption of the name, Mt. Ogden, will be made in the near future.

LITTLE BENNY'S Note Book

By LEE PAPE

Yesterday I counted up how much money I had saved up to buy Krissmas presents and made a list of the presents I was going to buy with it, this being it:

Pop—a hankercloth with his initial embroidered in one corner.
Ma—a thing to put mustard in with a glass spoon, 25 cents.
My sister Gladis—things to put in her shoes when she's not wearing them, 10 cents.
My cuzzin Artie—a half a pound of new jelly beans in a old fancy box from last Krissmas, 9 cents.

Being all, and this afternoon I was standing on my skates talking to Mary Watkins standing on hers, and she said, "Have you hawt your Krissmas presents yet, Benny?" and I sed, "No, not yet, but I got a list rote out."

"O, have you, who alls on it?" sed Mary Watkins. Meaning was she on it, and I sed, "O, diffrent people, and she sed Leroy Shooter is going to give me a present for Krissmas, wats you think of that?" A half a pound of choickits, wats you think of that? I think Leroy Shooter is awfull nice, dont you?

"O I dont know, I sed, and Mary Watkins sed, "O dont you think he is, O I think he is, and I sed, "O a half a pound of choickits aint so much, wats a half pound of choickits, wats would you say if I gave you a hole pound?"

"O, Benny, how perfectly wonderful! I think you're twice as nice as Leroy Shooter, I hope you dont think a moment I was hinting?" sed Mary Watkins.

Serterny not, I sed. Wich maybe she wasent, and when I went home I made another list, this being it:

Mary Watkins, a pound of choickits, 50 cents.
Pop, a small size hankercloth with a initial rote in one corner with red 10 cents.
Ma, a glass mustard spoon, 10 cents.

THE POPULAR GAME.

Every one is profiteering, every one is profit-struck; no one's pleased unless he's clearing ninety cents on every buck. Mr. George Schillo, 6206 Pear avenue, Cleveland, Ohio, writes: "I am glad I was recommended to your medicine. I was pretty well rundown, nervous, and loss of ambition, felt tired at all times, could not sleep, and had loss of appetite, felt weak and trembled from weakness. I find your Cadomene Tablets are helping me very much. I was writing to my sister about my rundown condition. She advised me to take Cadomene, as she had been as bad off as myself. WINTER STRAWBERRIES.
I was a bitter winter day when to the grocer's joint I went, to price the picketed hay, and buy a nutmeg for a cent. "These berries here," the grocer said, "have just been shipped in by express; they come from lands where frost is dead—from southern Florida, I guess. A box of these," the grocer cried, "will cost a dollar and a third; and you may eat and swell with pride, and folks will say you are a bird." The village banker anbled in, his whiskers full of snow and ice; "Buy berries?" said he, "were a sin to cough up such a beastly price." The leading lawyer came along and, enquiring upon that pallid fruit, and said, "This head is working wrong, who for such stuff would give a boot." A half a dozen men of wealth passed by, berries thus displayed; they said "would undermine their health to pay the price the grocer made. And then the village tinsmith came and boughr berries, his eyes agleam; he said, "I'll take them to the dame, and she will dish them up with cream." To moralize in doleful pitch I might proceed, but bedtime's nigh, and wealthy men are always rich, and tinsmiths—well, they're living high.
